Covington certainly has a model Policeman in the person of Dan Kraut. During the G. A. R. Encampment an unfortunate visitor from a back county, whose missing leg was supplied by a crutch, imbibed so much Licking river juice that it prompted him to imagine that a certain saloon was all his own, and with this idea he proceeded to "clean it out," driving all occupants and even the barkeeper into the street, but doing no damage to any one. Officer Dan Kraut came along and took charge of the man; and instead of "clubbing" him he talked to him and treated him like a brother, and in a few minutes he had him pacified and put to bed in a hotel instead of locking him up. THE LEDGER presents the name of Dan Kraut for emulation—and promotion.

HEAVY RAIN.

This Section Visited by an Old Timer Last Night and Today.

One of the heaviest rains that has occurred in this section for a long time was that of last night and today.

As a result the damage to crops in this county alone will be unusually great, while reports of whole towns being submerged have been received here. At Ellisberry, O., on Threemile creek, it is said water is on the first floor of all the houses and the stock of goods in Brittingham's store is ruined.

Owing to washouts both above and below traffic on the C. and O. was suspended for several hours.

The Accommodation was the last train to reach here last night, No. 4 taking the Lexington route to make its run. No. 1 was also held up a few hours this morning, but when THE LEDGER went to press the trains were again running on time.

The Church was tastefully decorated in green and white, palms and ferns and the blossoms of springtime.

The groom wore the regulation afternoon toilet with reception gloves.

The Maid of Honor was Miss Lindsay, a sister to the bride, while Mr. King of Flemingsburg attended the groom.

—WE SELL— P. N. CORSETS

Do you know what they are? The Corsets of comfort and style. The only corsets that will not—because they cannot—stretch. They're built that way. The test of time has convinced us that what the manufacturers long ago claimed is absolutely true. These corsets cannot stretch. Because of the properly shaped and carefully shrunken material which enter into their make up it is an utter impossibility. Three qualities—$1, $1.25, $1.50.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT POINT!

Get the right size. Nature gives most women beautiful figures which they promptly ruin with poor corsets. Get a corset that fits and pay enough to get a good one. Too small a corset destroys symmetry—too large a corset is just as bad. In either case no point of the corset strikes you where it should. An able saleswoman has charge of our corset section—she has studied the question and can help you to determine the style and size best adapted to your figure. Consult her.
